Delphiniums - -

The Noble Purple and Blue Perennial for Your Garden

AMONG the beautiful gardens throughout America, the Delphinium has long reserved for itself a place of regal grace and charm. Their tall stately stalks in multi-shades of blue and purple bend gracefully in the early summer and autumn breeze; in formal masses, twined with green, they present a profuse opulence, a scene at once royal and restful.

For years past reckoning Duckham Delphiniums have exemplified the ultimate bloom in this flower of aristocracy. Burgeoning in my special delphinium trial grounds at Madison, New Jersey, where I devote many hours each day to their culture, they reward my labors with unfoldments of pattern and color ever inspiring.

Early autumn marks the period most favorable for planting Delphiniums . . . to realize best results. I recommend, therefore, that you send for your plants now, and set them out before the leaves on the trees grow sere. Then—next spring and summer you will discover a richness of life in your garden that will add abundantly to the joys of home for yourself, your family and your friends.

Plant These Strong Field Grown Perennials

ACHILLEA PTARMICA, Boule de Nieve. New. An improvement on The Pearl. The flowers, while not quite so large, are of more perfect form, with fuller centers. 25 cts. each; $2.50 per doz.

ALLWOODI. Everblooming Hardy Pinks. This new race of the Dianthus family flowers perpetually during spring, summer, and autumn. No plant is hardier or of easier cultivation, and its free-flowering qualities have rendered it exceedingly popular. The flowers range through many shades of light, medium and dark pink and crimson, and all are deliciously fragrant. Mixed, 35 cts. each; $3.50 per doz.

ANCHUSA myosotidiflora. Surpassingly fine ground-cover plant with large, broad leaves topped by graceful panicles of bright blue flowers resembling forget-me-nots. Excellent in shady places. April, May. 35 cts. each; $3.50 per doz.

ANEMONE hupehensis. Early Anemone. Sturdy, dwarf Anemone, 1½ to 2 feet high, and resembling the Japanese Anemone in many respects, but blooms earlier, is not so tall, and much more richly colored. It is a fine plant for very large rock-gardens and comes into bloom in early August, continuing until frost. It will succeed in half-shady places. We recommend it especially for perennial borders and for cut-flowers.

A. japonica alba. Single, pure white flowers, showing yellow anthers, from late September on.

A. japonica, Queen Charlotte. Large, semi-double, bright pink flowers, broad and perfectly formed, abundantly produced in September. Fine for cutting.

Aster, Celestial Queen

English Long-Spurred Aquilegias

A. japonica, Whirlwind. Semi-double, large, snowy white flowers profusely produced from late September on.

A., September Charm. Delicate silvery pink flowers shaded with rose and mauve, coming into full bloom by September 20. 50 cts. each; $5 per doz.

All Anemones, 35 cts. each; $3.50 per doz. except where noted.

AQUILEGIA (Columbine), New English Improved Longspurred. With their odd shapes and delightful color shadings Columbines rank high among the best hardy garden plants. They thrive almost anywhere but prefer a partially shady and moist position. This strain is, perhaps, the best and most beautiful in existence, having flowers with very long spurs and most charming colors, including, Pink, Blue, Lavender, Red, Cream, and White—all decidedly new and interesting. 30 cts. each; $1.10 for 3; $3.00 per doz.

ARMERIA, Bee's Ruby. Attractive dwarf plant with stout stems and large globular heads of brilliant ruby-red flowers. 50 cts. each, $5.00 per doz.

ASTER, Mauve Cushion. Handsome, very dwarf, compact plant covered in autumn with starry pinkish white flowers. Rock garden.

A., New Pink. Large, bright rosy pink flowers. Plant of free-branching habit. A charming new color in hardy Asters.

Phlox
